Reasons for comment:

Comments:	A livestock farm needs buildings to keep their livestock healthy during the winter and inclement weather. This application is to do just that. The area this application relates to has been used for farming, by the same family, for nearly four decades, and for a long time before that by the previous farmer, there is absolutely no reason not to allow them to have a building that is vital to the continuing health of livestock that ultimately end up in the food chain and enhance this country's food security.
