Application for caravan site.

Seriously!

Pear Tree Lane is an asset to Gravesend. The location promotes inspiration and ambition. A true gem surrounded by heritage conservation and listed buildings on a plateau with stunning views in a quiet countryside location, compassionately and well maintained by local residents.

To allow this application would be sacrilege and play into the hands of nervous parish councils and restricting planning policies instead of encouraging quality developments providing long term housing, encouraging local investment and populating the schools, churches and communities, only enabled by capitalising on those with the ambition, resources and finances to construct them in promotiob of sustainable development, in favour of blighting the Kent countryside with cop out caravan sites.

I implore you to reconsider.

Regards
