This is a detailed historical map of a section of London, likely from the 18th or 19th century. The map shows a network of streets, including 'Sole Street' running vertically on the left and 'Sailors Quay' running horizontally across the middle. A triangular plot of land is highlighted with a solid black line, situated between 'Sailors Quay' and 'Dark Sailors'. The map is filled with numerous small, irregular shapes representing buildings and plots, many of which are labeled with names or numbers. A north arrow is located in the top right corner. The map is oriented with North at the top.
