Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Building 150 new houses on this greenfield site is shortsighted and inadvisable. Once developed, this beautiful field area will be gone forever. There are numerous brownfield land areas in Gravesham and these should be explored before even thinking of building in an area such as proposed here. More specifically, this land is currently agricultural and forms a critical part UK food production/security. this area is crossed by a path that is very frequently used by ramblers and dog-walkers heading on loop-walks via Sole Street and Cobham - losing that path will significantly diminish the options for enjoying the local countryside. Norwood lane is unsuitable for the traffic that will be generated by the propsed dwellings.

Kind regards
