Reasons for comment:

Comments:	I believe this project is unique, this is a community centre as well as a place to worship, all are welcome to learn about the Lord whatever faith you may be, it will provide education so people can enhance their lives spiritually and deal with world affairs. It will accommodate vulnerable people and provisions will include food bank, counselling and rehabilitation for offenders and low rented accommodation via the hmo above for single people struggling to find accommodation due to hefty deposits and utility bills. There is no room for discrimination against this project as all trustees are of varying ethnicities and the imam a professional chaplain in UK prisons and expert in rehabilitation, well suited for the role of social services which I can guarantee will be an asset for the community as a whole, spiritual guidance, wellbeing and social care will be an invaluable provision for our community as crime, drug use, and domestic violence is rampant and these vices will all be tackled by this community centre/ place of worship.
