Reasons for comment:

Comments: Plans are a breath of fresh air providing much needed housing and medical services to the wider area.
Reading through existing objection comments from others, most appear to have objection to any development at all or have unachievable or unrealistic expectations. I would find it incredibly disappointing if this application were rejected on the basis that it somewhat upsets a few immediate neighbours. Depriving the rest of Gravesham of a brand new medical centre, and 54 units of housing. If we are to grow our town both in numbers and economically it's important we're able to build.

Many others complain of parking shortage. I would instead applaud the developer for not wasting valuable land on parking spaces. The area has acceptable public transport links and is walkable. If there are issues with parking spilling over into neighbouring streets then it would be advisable that the council places a resident permit system and/or parking charge on these streets. Blocking development is not a solution to parking woes.

Kind regards
