Reasons for comment:

Comments: The former farm building, which was converted into a 2 bedroomed dwelling a few years ago sits in an area of outstanding natural beauty. The unique area of Camer has remained unspoilt for centuries. When this building was given planning for development, it was stressed it could not be extended beyond the original footprint. There are so few properties of this size in rural areas, surrounded by their land, and far too many larger properties built. Please consider the uniqueness of this current property, and the beautiful surroundings of the area!

Kind regards
