Reasons for comment:

Comments:	The A227 is already a busy road. If there is a blockage in this road, and I can recall two recent incidents where the road was blocked for several days (due to a sink hole and collapsed scaffolding) all of the traffic from the A227 is diverted onto single track roads. Building more houses will only add to that pressure. There is also only a limited train service from Meopham and trains are very busy - the extra houses will increase that pressure. Our GP practice is also very busy and the extra houses will be a burden. The houses will generate more traffic near to a primary school which is dangerous. The road is narrow and is extremely busy during school start and finish times. I am concerned there will be a serious accident.
