Reasons for comment:

Comments:	I'd like to object to the proposal for 150 new houses in the village. One of my biggest worries is the impact on school places. Our local primary school is only a one-form-entry school, and it's already close to full. Adding 150 homes could mean dozens of extra children needing places that simply don't exist. There's no clear plan for how the school could expand, and without that, families may end up having to travel far outside the village just to find a place for their children. Traffic is another major concern. Our roads are narrow, busy at peak times, and not designed for the amount of extra cars a development like this would bring. It would increase congestion and make walking or cycling around the village much less safe. Overall, the village just doesn't have the infrastructure or services to cope with a development of this size. It would put real pressure on roads, the school, and other amenities, and the plans don't seem to offer any realistic solutions. For these reasons, I'm objecting to the application and hope the council will reconsider this proposal.
