Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I strongly object to this proposal. If allowed the impact on the roads will be dreadful, the A2 is already struggling with current new build impact. Our green spaces in Kent are being eroded slice by slice which negatively impacts on human health, wildlife and biodiversity. A primary school is planned but nothing further, what about the impact on local doctors' surgeries which are already stretched to capacity? There's too much building already in Kent, not enough hospitals to cope, they've struggled for years and this will just make it worse. Our area is being swamped and most of these properties are sold not to locals but to people from out of the area anyway. Build on brown field sites, not green areas which could grow much needed food in these dangerous and uncertain times. Once the land is built on it's gone forever. Please consider your decision carefully...what kind of a Kent do we want? An enormous housing estate stretching from London to the coast or some of the Garden of England still remaining? I plead with you on behalf of future generations to please refuse permission for this very unsuitable proposal.

Kind regards
