Reasons for comment:
Comments:	In considering this application, planning officers should take account of the number of applications that have been submitted and the fact that so many of them are retrospective. This must, at the very least, raise questions about the overall size and scale of the Silverhand operation and future development. The operation is out of kilter with the rural area, detrimental to the National Landscape, and represents yet another increase in traffic along narrow, single track, rural lanes.

Kind regards
