Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I do not believe the land is suitable for the proposed use. The same principles for the refusal of a previous application for a single residential bungalow must be applied. This is green belt land in a small rural village. The infrastructure and road way is not suitable for large vehicles towing caravans and there are no details confirming the likely quantity of day visitors expected. Where are the vehicles going to park if they cannot fit onto the land. How will this be monitored and where will they be moved onto. There needs to be serious regulations applied if this request is to be approved and considering the applicant has already flouted rules by placing caravans on the land without permission I do not expect conditions to be met, which is why the application needs to be rejected.

Kind regards
