Reasons for comment:

Comments:	120 houses - Potentially, 240 cars + Delivery and Service Vehicles. Longfield Road is extremely narrow with residents' cars parked each side and highly congested during school start and finish times. Dangerous access onto junction of Longfield Road and A227 The current roads are extremely busy already and this increase in traffic will cause more concern for dangerous access. Why cannot we build more house upto the North of England where there is more room for housing than the South east of England which is becoming to busy and certainly has insufficient funding and infrastructure and room in place to increase the number of houses. More spacious areas of England like Gloucestershire and the Midlands and North England have much more space for this increase .
