Stance:	Customer objects to the Planning Application
Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Again, I find myself having to object to this retrospective planning application about a site that has already an injunction upon it. These people are not travellers and gypsies but people who flaunt the laws of our country. They have already laid massive hardstanding, they have luxury so called Mobile homes and they have spent thousands of pounds fencing off the whole site so the illicit activites can be carried out unobserved, with no worries about the environment, destroying trees with their chainsaws to enable them to get their luxury homes onto this illegal so-called traveller site. The lane in the to the site is narrow with few passing places and this traveller site means more traffic with their 4x4 vehicles and trucks. They intimidate the local people and the council and officials should have the guts to remove them

Kind regards
