Reasons for comment:

Comments:	1. In outline principle I have not problems; other than I am concerned that at one point the proposed new building design at one part is very close, only 1181 (46 inches) from an existing wall [REDACTED] and potentially could cause damage to its foundations during construction and/ or subsequently. 2. At the approximate closest part of the new build proposal, a corner 1181 (46 inches) from [REDACTED] attached to this wall, inside, there is bathroom, containing, toilet, wash hand base and shower and associated plumbing/ pipe leading underground in this area to an underground main Water board sewer which is also very close by. Potentially this new building, as proposed, could cause damage to these pipes during construction and/ or subsequently.
