Reasons for comment:
Comments:	The site is not suitable for various reasons. The noise and disruption while building would have a detrimental effect on the children and teachers. The change of landscape would also impact them long term with the change of view and day to day noise. The road is currently not suitable (not can it be changed) to accommodate construction vehicles, the increase in traffic (it is already difficult enough to navigate the Longfield Road/ Huntingfield road area. There is a second school very nearby (primary) that has a lot of children crossing on a pelican crossing so relies on drivers to be aware and stop. The land is already in yearly use with it being used for growing food for the general public. It shouldn't be allowed to take this away and build on what is a high oxygen producing area. The surrounding roads are already very busy and will only add to the increase in CO2 levels when there are a lot of children who regularly play outside.

Kind regards
