Reasons for comment:

Comments: This neighbour had repeatedly gone against planning permissions and has even lied about having planning permission for this extension. Their extension (which they built without planning permission) blocks all [REDACTED] kitchen light and even dining room light which means we are spending more money on electricity bills as we have to turn our lights on in the morning and during the day. Adding on to this, in the process of this house going against planning permissions (which again they did not even have until we complained) they started to know the chimney down [REDACTED] has been damaged. We notified 55 and they have told us they will fix it but that was said over a month ago.

Furthermore, 55 have repeatedly gone past their construction times such as making noise on a Sunday and going past Saturday time regulations. As neighbours who work, go to school and also want to spend time as a family, we are disrupted and have to work in the dark, listen to the construction noise on a Saturday and Sunday even though we have complained to them many times.

Kind regards
