Reasons for comment:

Comments:	Review of Planning Proposal for Floodlight Football Pitch I would like to express my serious concerns regarding the planning proposal for a floodlight football pitch located behind my house. While the idea of providing recreational facilities for the community is commendable, the potential implications of this project cannot be overlooked. Firstly, the introduction of floodlights raises significant concerns about light pollution. Living in a primarily residential area, our home currently offers a peaceful environment. The bright lights associated with latenight games could disrupt our quality of life, making it difficult to enjoy our outdoor spaces or even find tranquility in our own home during evening hours. Additionally, I worry about the noise generated by the activities that would accompany the use of the football pitch. The sound of cheering crowds and the general commotion associated with sports events could create an unwelcome distraction. This potential increase in noise levels would detract from what has been a serene suburban atmosphere. Furthermore, there is the financial consideration to take into account. The devaluation of our property is a genuine concern. The serenity of our neighborhood is a significant selling point for our home, and the presence of a floodlight football pitch may deter potential buyers looking for quieter surroundings. This could erode the investment we have made in our property and negatively impact the overall character of our community. In conclusion, while I appreciate the initiative to enhance community recreational options, I urge the decisionmakers to consider the potential drawbacks of this proposal. The implications on our quality of life, noise levels, and property values cannot be ignored. I hope that alternative locations or more communityfocused solutions can be explored that would allow for recreational advancements without compromising the essence of our neighborhood.
