Abstract. The purpose of this study was to determine whether there were differences in the prevalence of periodontitis between patients with type 2 diabetes mellitus (DM) and non-diabetic controls. A total of 60 patients with DM and 60 age- and sex-matched non-diabetic controls were recruited from a tertiary care hospital. All participants underwent a clinical examination of their periodontium by two independent examiners who were blinded to each other's findings. The mean age of the diabetic group was 67 years, while the mean age of the control group was 68 years. The prevalence of periodontitis was significantly higher in the diabetic group compared to the control group ($p < 0.001$). The results of this study suggest that patients with DM have a higher prevalence of periodontitis than non-diabetic controls.

Dear Sirs

Re 'Westside', Wrotham Road, Mcopham, Gravesend, DA13 0LIW
Demolition of existing two-storey three bedroom dwelling and erection of two-storey with roof accommodation five-bedroom detached dwelling and associated ancillary garden building, hard and soft landscaping, and associated car parking

We refer to the above planning application, your reference GR/2022/1085 and would make the following comment.

In the Society's view this proposal is over-development resulting in two side elevations which are very unattractive, being long large areas of brickwork and high level windows. In our view these are likely to have an adverse impact on the amenity of the adjoining occupiers. It is also noted that the new building would have a larger footprint and three floors.

The Society would suggest that if any consent is granted, conditions should be imposed to control residential use of the proposed garden room.

Yours faithfully

Mrs P A Lippiatt
Hon. Secretary
