Reasons for comment:

Comments: If we'd had any idea this extension was going to be this imposing and this height, we would have raised an objection to the build when the original plans were submitted.

The original drawing were very misleading, as they only showed a slight increase in the height.

Is there a good reason why the new extension could not have continued at the same height as the existing construction?

This build has had a huge impact on us and the view from our garden. Instead of looking beautiful trees, we are left with a view of an towering brick wall.

Kind regards
