Reasons for comment:

Comments:	The land is green belt, so building on it is not permitted. It will destroy the countryside and natural habitats and all that entails. It will end up with individual villages being merged, shattering communities and severely impacting local infrastructure and amenities which have advised they are already struggling to cope. The additional 1450+ private vehicles (including delivery and service vehicles) that will need access and will make use of already crammed and crumbling country lanes will bring unwanted noise and air pollution. The development itself will bring light pollution but more importantly water companies have flagged major concerns in respect water drainage provision and simple provision of standard water services. What is the overall impact of all the proposed development applications and who will determine whether one or more can proceed and at what cost. We don't need any kire houses in thus area. They will simply be bought by people wanting to move out of London, not by locals. This will bring all the negatives of those places such as crime, more littering and a lack of respect for the local area.
