I deeply object to this proposal because:

Longfield Road is already congested, additional vehicles from this enormous development will over load the existing road, putting children in particular at risk from collisions since there are several nearby schools - already drivers ignore the zebra crossing close to the junction with Wrotham Road.

The junction of Longfield Road and Wrotham Road is already congested and dangerous, additional vehicles will worsen this situation.

Additional vehicles further reduces air quality locally, particularly on Longfield Road and Wrotham Road. Please note this impact will affect children at the nearby schools.

The site is good agricultural land. Why diminish the ability to grow local food in a world where food security is no longer something to be taken for granted.

We face a climate and biodiversity crisis. Why destroy hedges and field boundaries and all the life they contain to create more bricks, plastic grass and block paving? Senseless disregard for our future.

My understanding of the North Kent Plan was that building south of the A2 was to be limited. This Plan should be abided by.

Expanding the built footprint of Meopham reduces the village character of the locality. I moved here because of the semi-rural location. This development will diminish that character.

Students at the Helen Allison School are vulnerable young people with needs that our society should meet. The noise and disruption associated with the development threatens to impact these children incredibly negatively.

If this development goes ahead, it opens the door to numerous other similar developments. Where does that end? I politely request that you discard this proposal as having far too many negative impacts on local people, local character and the environment.

Kind regards
