Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Apart from the added exhaust pollution this will bring, it does not give out a good impression for children playing in the 'Woodlands' park next door? There is also already traffic congestion from the local school and traffic light junction 50m away, and local parking in the immediate local streets is already stretched, as the council will know from the street parking restrictions they imposed a few years ago? Also, there is already a McDonalds in Gravesend town. There will also be air pollution from the grease cooking that takes place, as having been in the kitchen ventilation industry for many years, and dealt with Burger King, I can assure you that no matter how big the company is, they never maintain the grease extraction equipment properly. I can guarantee that. [REDACTED]
