Reasons for comment:
Comments:	There is absolutely no infrastructure to support all the housing that is proposed. The main road A227 is forever blocked and or having works which brings long delays and gridlock most days. The side roads too are bursting and the conditions atrocious. No way can it cope. I've lived over 43 years here and Gravesham continues to push into the villages destroying their identities. There's no reliable commuter services so you know exactly that huge numbers of vehicles will be added to the already over limit road capacity. Health will be affected as it is already by such volumes of vehicles and forever with idling engines queuing. The medical practice have already confirmed no capacity and the water authority too is at breaking point. The schools too arent sufficient. Many of the houses already built in other areas aren't sold anyway as mostly unaffordable for locals wanting to live close to family to have their own. Surely it would be in the interests of everyone to identify and use brownfield sites and not use our very important and necessary Green field land. It is short sighted in the extreme and environmental impact and demand upon roads and services not thought through. This will not solve any housing shortage for locals but merely bring more from London sprawl which is also affecting the safety and use of our communities to the detriment.

Kind regards
