Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Far to many houses being built without any thought to infrastructure.. DVH is already stretched to capacity... no new doctors or dentists or school places ... the A2 is not fit to take all the additional road traffic .. if you need to build more flats / houses use brown field sites like Gravesend hospital that's been derelict.. at least people will have shops and access to buses and trains .. Istead rise people are reliant on cars Please can planning dept show common sense when looking at these applications

Kind regards
