Reasons for comment:

Comments:	I am very much against this being developed for so many houses, firstly using good agricultural space is to be frowned on, we are a small country and need all that we can produce ourselves, surely there must be more brown-field sites that could be redeveloped. The road is more like a country lane and already has vehicles that are inclined to drive well over the speed limit, are far too large and heavy for it and cause traffic problems. Extra hundreds of cars are just not a sensible idea on a road that is narrow, with parked cars from local houses and at 'school run' time really, really awful. Also putting so much, this close by the side of a SEN school will certainly harm the children's development.
