Reasons for comment:

Comments:	I am very much against this being developed. 150 houses with at least double that in cars. This is a dangerous idea. Using roads that are narrow rural lanes, and destroying good agricultural land which is still very much needed in Kent, in helping keeping down food imports. Although close to the railway station, trains are already crowded to standing at peak times, and the bus service through Meopham is a joke, unreliable and very limited. A minimum of 300 extra residents in the area will cause extra havoc with school and medical services already under strain. My main objection with this is the use of good farmland when there are many brownfield sites that can be used.
