Reasons for comment:

Comments:	I have too visit my daughter whom does my needs and this is unsightly its caused her undue stress and upset her daughters anxiety has had a detrimental effect they have applied to swap their home after having it adapted but the people have turned it down due to lack of view and light to the rear lounge and garden also the view from her sons bedroom. I have been in the building trade for over 50 yrs and its the worst workman ship I've seen ! The work man also have no safety wear nore are they of a nice nature the work is shoddy and is a health and safety hazard how this has got through any building control is beyond me . I also would like to know if their is a party wall agreement ,a right too light been looked into and the rule 45 because no on in their right mind can say that that building should be allowed. I do hope the residents of whitehill road /lane have been notified as that is their view too and I know for sure they have had issues acquiring access too their properties via the rear back alley way that they pay for on their housing rent . On visits I've notice no building control visits or planning enforcement arrive to the site and im at my daughters daily may be this needs to be raised too a higher department for inspection .
