Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Gravesend has 2 of the proposed restaurants already, why do we need another, is child and adult obesity not high enough already. The noise from late nights (possibly 24hrs) on the local area would be horrendous for the elderly occupants of the arms houses. The rubbish and litter along Wrotham Road will with the prevailing wind be blown towards the town centre and windmill hill or if lucky it will be all over woodlands park. There is a school within a 2 minute walk, this chain of restaurants doesn't deliver to schools but would happily build one within walking distance. The glorious park used by children and families could become a haven for people who prey on the young. The road would become an even more dangerous road with delivery scooters buzzing in and out of traffic. This proposed restaurant is yet another nail in this once GREAT town's coffin, how this council could even consider granting permission beggars belief.

Kind regards
