1 INTRODUCTION AND SITE APPRAISAL

1.1 This report is prepared in support of a householder application made to Gravesham Borough Council for the replacement of PVC door and window with timber door and window in the rear elevation , currently under consideration by the Council.

1.2 The application property, 38 The Street Cobham Gravesend DA12 3BZ, Cobham is a small village to the south-east of Gravesend at the lower end of the Cuxton/Luddesdown Valley. Watling Street (the A2) is less than a mile to the north and the village lies within a network of ancient roads set in farmland to the south of the A2. The village has a rural setting and to the east (beyond the application site) is the open parkland of the West Park of Cobham Hall which is screened from the village by trees and hedgerows.

1.3 The origins of Cobham are uncertain, but the name is Saxon and there are mentions of Cobbbahamm in 939AD and Cobbbahamm in 1195 according to the Cobham Conservation Area Appraisal.

1.4 The majority of buildings in the village are of red brick. Other traditional building materials include weather boarded timber frame, tile hanging on timber frame, timber frame lath and plaster, as well as more modern such as pebble dash. Roofs are generally hand-made clay tiles, although there are some examples of more modern synthetic materials. The general character follows the common traditional timber and brick vernacular in Kent. External joinery is predominantly traditional, but there are examples of plastic windows and doors that are harmful to the character of the locality.
