Comments:	I have just seen the plans submitted to this dwelling. It is in know way anything like that which is being completed now. There is a roof extension, and from what I can glean from the outside the single story extension is now 2 rooms. It looks like it's going to be a house of multiple occupancy. Again nothing like the original plans submitted. Although I am not a resident of coombe road the parking and access road is already congested without the added footfall that will come when the school field is built on. This makes a mockery of the planning system.

Kind regards
