Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I'm a friend of someone who lives on the same road and I think there isn't an issue with it being built. I can see other houses on that road adding conservatories to their back garden and no one complaining. I think if you're going to penalise him for building one then you'll have to do the same for everyone else on that road. It seems to me that this is just a personal issue between two neighbours who don't get along well.

Kind regards
