Reasons for comment:

Comments: This property has been empty for well over a year and last year was gutted and refurbished to provide offices. During the renovation period we were inundated with rats living in the rubbish and broken toilets that were dumped in the yard. this property is still vacant but someone attends every night and dumps rubbish ie mattresses, bed bases, toilets, wood, computer goods etc in the yard and this is pile is growing daily. it has taken the pest control company over 10 months to eradicate the rat infestation and I feel this will come back. This proposed elevation will block the natural daylight into my home and will block the view to the church which I have enjoyed for the last 9 years. I sincerely hope this does not go ahead

Kind regards
