Reasons for comment:

Comments:	Whilst I accept communities may feel marginalised and they should be accommodated appropriately in all areas, it should be accepted this should this 'accommodation' should not be unconditional and at the expense of the surrounding environment and community. It is obvious that the applicants regard planning regulations with contempt, knowing the likelihood of rejection was high they have chosen to complete work regardless of the outcome. Are we to assume that all residents can treat planning regulations with similar contempt believing we will just be given retrospective approval? In my view there should be no exceptions made for particular communities and groups and that we should accept that the decision made by the local authority are binding and legally enforceable. The damage inflicted by the unauthorised works is significant and it will take several decades for flora to recover, this alone should not be without consequence. I implore the council to act accordingly and not only reject this application but for there to be for repercussions for the unauthorised works and damage to the environment.
