Reasons for comment:

Comments:	I object to the out building. I would not object if it were located on the opposite side of the garden (which would place the building approximately 4.2 meters to the right when standing at the back of the house looking to the rear of the garden). Or if the front facing wall of the building was not any further away then 5.75 meters from the rear garden boundary (On plans at present it is 7.44 meters). The final option that I would not object to would be that the builing covers the rear end of the garden from side to side so approximately 10 meters wide and the front wall of the building not be any further than 5 meters away from the rear garden boundary. other than this I object
