i live locally to harvel village, and, really miss having a pub.
we used to visit the amazon and tiger between 6 and 12 times per year, usually taking a group of friends or family with us, sometimes a larger group of 25+ people.

the pub kept the village alive, and the village has lost its central point of contact and meeting place, without a pub it feels empty.

the pub badly needed to improve its food offering and services. the food was usually terrible, and certainly not a reason to visit. if the food had been better the pub would have made money, however, a better arrangement for parking would then have been necessary. during fetes and village hall events the pub was always busy.

i would have tried to take over the pub in partnership with others but the price demanded was unrealistic (deliberately so in my opinion).

removing the pub is another knife wound to an already struggling village.

Kind regards
