Reasons for comment:

Comments: When the current owners purchased this establishment, it was a Pub. They purchased it at pub prices with the intent to live in and run it as a pub. The pub proved to be profitable and so much so they requested planning permission to add on a B&B so that their patrons could stay over. This itself enhanced the business. To be able to then simply close the pub and not sell on as a pub is simply wrong. They cannot expect to close down a community asset and then make a tidy sum themselves by then selling the 'pub' as a house. The village has always benefited from a pub and people bought their houses in the village because it had a pub. Why should they then decide to deprive the village of this for financial gain. This was our running club's HQ and it was always busy. A pub is needed,.

Kind regards
