Comments:

Longfield road is not adequate to cope with increased traffic (potential 250 or more cars, vans, lorries) being narrow with cars parked outside residencies in addition HGV vehicles use it as a cut through to Longfield and Dartford.

The school next to the new build is for special needs children the increase in noise etc will be detrimental to their wellbeing.

It seems a shame to destroy good quality farmland especially as food prices are rising rapidly. The country needs to at least maintain its food production.

There will be a massive increase in traffic on the A227 already over stretched esp at peak times. Side roads and country lanes are not adequate to cope with modern traffic in terms of numbers and size of vehicles. The road surfaces are in a desperately poor state and will only continue to deteriorate.

Public transport services (bus/train) are poor now and won't cope with an increase in passenger/commuter numbers.

Local medical services are dire now how will they manage a potential increase in Meopham's population by one third?

Surely this is greenbelt land is it not protected from these type of building projects?

Kind regards
