Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I am the freeholder of [REDACTED] No: 7 King St a [REDACTED] property and originally both were one property. My main concern is at the back of 7 King St each floor has a metal fire escape that connects [REDACTED] building. Anyone using those fire escape stairs has to access [REDACTED] property. 7 King St has no access of its own. The rear ground floor [REDACTED] share access to both [REDACTED] properties and is only for fire escape purposes. If apartments are built this access will be the main entrance for them (unlike [REDACTED] property they have no front access to upstairs) This is totally unsuitable as the rear should be for fire escape purposes only)

Kind regards
