| Comments: | Living in the area for 10+ years, I have seen the devastation of the tree cutting that has already occurred. Impacting local nature, biodiversity and landscape by carelessly cutting through ancient woodlands and hedgerows. A gypsy site does not fit in with the surrounding area and the traffic and noise also associated with a gypsy site does not suit the quiet, full of nature area. If there has already been devastating effects on the trees and hedgerows from moving one caravan onto the site, then what impacts will come from further caravans and mobile homes on the site. The local area is known for its dog walks and horse routes, which are quiet, full of nature and this site will impact this. The other houses in the surrounding area are sympathetic of the landscape. Mobile homes, caravans, traffic and noise are definitely not sympathetic of the area. |
