Reasons for comment:

Comments:	Significant impact on the green belt, despite being approved under the green belt regulations. It would have had a lower impact if the council had just allowed them to extend their house. The concrete wall and brickwork is a significant eyesore and significantly impacting and encroaching on the green belt. Together with the out outbuildings it has impacted my view and really affected the openness of the area. I would find it difficult for the council to object to others in the area to extend their properties as that would be a less impactful than this huge structure of very high walls throughout their garden. I am astounded and shocked how this has been allowed to be built in the first place with the planning department already aware. Why was a letter asking for opinions and comments not sent before this monstrosity of a structure was built? The look of the street and area has been ruined. The owners of the property did not follow any rules and regulations and carried out structural changes on their own accord - and it seems that the planning department has allowed them to get away with it. Why is that? There are no other houses with structural changes as significant as this in the area that I am aware of. I am very disappointed as I feel that the openness of the area has been spoilt.
