Comments:	Where would the access be to this development? If the access is in factory road, forget it. With the people that live on the London road and the teachers going to the school in Lawn Road, there's very little parking available and anything larger than a car would struggle to negotiate the road. What time of day and or night would this place be used? There's a number of residents that work shift work and sleep at various times. Would there be any excessive noise? I would strongly suggest that somewhere else be found, away from residential areas.

Kind regards
