Reasons for comment:

Comments:	Containers being applied for are already in place???
	Van from the yard reversed through [REDACTED] fence, replaced it with panel thats not even remotely similar makes [REDACTED] house look embarrassing, arguing it wasn't them at first until I told him I had it on camera didn't have the decency to call me back and say it would be replaced. Just come home one day and a two bob fence panel was installed after explicitly telling him it needed to be replaced like for like.
	Flood Lights still coming on facing the houses at 11pm 1am 3am basically all night working on sensors so anything goes past it (leaves, animals, trees moving) lights up all the houses, needs to be on a timer as per the planning permission agreed.
	Double height fence panels are a joke look about 200 years old need replacing.
	Open man hole cover in the yard that's drops about 10ft straight down, if someone falls down that hole they will be dead (not being over dramatic take a look for yourself)

Kind regards
