Reasons for comment:

Comments:	I am writing to object to the plan to build 120 houses next to the Helen Allison School. The number of cars which could result from the new houses, is far too many for the Longfield Road to cope with. It is already dangerous near the school being quite a narrow road. There are always parked cars and delivery vans and it seems thoughtless to expect the road to cope with a significant increase. Any entrance / exit to new houses will only add to the volume of traffic. It needs much more consideration. The planned houses are near to the Wrotham Road which is already far too busy and will only become worse with the planned tunnel. It will be far too dangerous for residents. The closeness of schools and Medical Centre is an interesting statement. Has anyone actually bothered to check numbers? Both school and Medical Centre will become overwhelmed leading to reduced and poorer service - not recommended! This development needs much more careful and thoughtful investigation as it will have far reaching consequences for residents. The development will be far too close to a school with SEN pupils which may impact negatively on them, especially the proposed exit.
