Reasons for comment:
Comments:	This is a ludicrous proposition straight off. Meopham struggles with the congestion, at times chaos, on the A227 and adjoining roads. To think that any amount of talk relating to infrastructure, short of a bypass or dual carriageway, could achieve a solution is ill informed and fanciful in the extreme. Just a look during school time/ rush hour will show the reality of the situation. The application is a shortsighted and dangerous concept. This is without considering the pollution and pressure on the village, GPs wise, transport, parking, etc. Bear in mind the forthcoming Lower Thames Crossing traffic which will increase the usage of the A227, as a cut through, enormously.

Kind regards
