| Comments: | I strongly object to this extremely over the top massive building they claim is for toilet use yet is bigger than most houses. The damage caused to the road to get this in and out would be dramatic. The lady who applied also threatened to sell the land to "Irish tinkers" if this wasn't accepted on a Facebook group which was a threat to our neighbourhood, particularly bowsesden lane residents. If accepted this would be a disaster for people of the road and our house prices would drop drastically as they clearly plan for it to be a full blown traveller field, in a quiet peaceful lane. Neighbours who actually live here have been refused out buildings and stables so I certainly think this should be refused too. A similar group recently hauled and placed a massive motorhome on pear tree lane next to sea ho without the permissions, and caused massive disturbance and mess in the process whilst also being aggressive to residents, which made Kent news. |
