Reasons for comment:

Comments:	As someone who appreciates the character of our rural surroundings and takes an interest in responsible land use, I'd like to voice my support for the proposed conversion of the old chicken shed. This kind of development strikes the right balance between preserving the area's heritage and adapting it for modern use. Rather than allowing the building to fall further into disrepair, this plan offers a respectful update that retains the original footprint while greatly improving the building's condition and visual impact. It's also encouraging to see proposals that focus on sustainability - making use of an existing structure avoids unnecessary new-build pressure on green spaces, and can often help support small-scale local economic activity. Overall, I believe this proposal will contribute positively to the rural landscape, reduce blight, and ensure the site serves a more meaningful purpose going forward. I hope the planning authority recognises the value in this well-considered project.
