Reasons for comment:

Comments: Whilst I am all for building the medical centre and flats, I feel the number of houses planned and lack of parking (as we all know most houses have at least 2 cars/work vehicles), is horrendous as these will spill out to local areas. We already suffer with lack of parking at the church for services and the nursery, where parking overflows. And I am also concerned for the safety of people crossing the road, cars approach that area from a blind corner/hill further down that road and cannot see those crossing until it is too late. The school used to need a lollipop person to help them cross so a crossing will be needed. Gravesend is a horrible place to live now - too busy and built up and becoming more so each day. It's just one big housing estate without any personality and this only perpetuates the problem.

Kind regards
