Reasons for comment:

Comments: I write with regard to property 64 St Albans Close. In general I think the idea of helping the homeless move back into society is a good one. I have some concerns about tree planting [REDACTED] I note that the police recommend, for security reasons that tall trees be planted rather than small shrub like trees. To my mind, tall trees provide larger, longer roots which may eventually affect the nearby buildings and underground utilities. It might be better not to plant a couple of the planned trees near 64 and its neighbour.

The proposed site has been underused for a long time. I think the local children would have used the site for play a lot more had the local authority cut the grass and tended the site more regularly.

Regards

Kind regards
