Reasons for comment:

Comments: At the moment the first floor window of the existing property that faces [REDACTED] property is visible from within [REDACTED] home but only the very top of the window so we are not actually overlooked, but if the new dwelling has the rear facing window significantly closer [REDACTED] boundary because the building extends into the rear garden by 3 meters then there is a significant risk that there will be a direct line of sight. I request that this rear facing window is either obscured glass or the top of the window is sufficiently lowered as to not allow a line of sight.

Kind regards
